

Paid Family Leave Resource List

ZERO TO THREE Resources

Paid Family Leave Advocacy Toolkit, ZERO TO THREE, February 2018 – This toolkit provides a fact sheet and sample advocacy materials, including talking points, social media graphics and op-eds, to help advocates increase support for paid family leave.

The Child Development Case for a National Paid Family and Medical Leave Program, ZERO TO THREE and National Partnership, January 2017 – This brief discusses the benefits of paid family leave for children and families. Although it focuses on the need for a national program, the research cited could be helpful in campaigns for state action.

Paid Leave: A Critical Support for Infants and Toddlers, and Families, ZERO TO THREE and CLASP, 2017 – This paper is part of a series describing 13 policies core to advancing infant-toddler wellbeing in four essential areas: high quality early care and education opportunities; strong parents; economically stable families; and healthy bodies, healthy minds and healthy parents. It discusses the importance of paid family and medical leave and paid sick leave for young children's healthy development.

Paid Leave is a Must for Hard Working Families, ZERO TO THREE, August 2017 – This article discusses the need for paid family leave and includes a paid leave checklist outlining the core principles that a comprehensive program must include.

The Child Development Case for Paid Family Leave Insurance in New York, ZERO TO THREE, National Partnership for Women and Families, New York Paid Family Leave Insurance Campaign, March 2015 – This fact sheet was created to make the child development case for New York state's enactment of paid family leave. Advocates successfully used it to secure passage of New York's paid family leave law in 2016.

State Initiative articles about state paid family leave laws – ZERO TO THREE's State Initiatives is a collection of articles highlighting innovative actions states have taken to improve wellbeing for infants and toddlers.
